Building upon their GameFi expertise, BinaryX has reportedly entered into agreements with their VR and AIGC partners, AiGC Labs, to develop a groundbreaking new GameFi genre of AI-based VR games.

First AI-Powered Virtual Reality Game on the Metaverse

According to the team, BinaryX is preparing for the launch of the first-ever VR game which heavily features both VR and AIGC in collaboration with AiGC Labs. The team has not released the full details of the game yet, but has hinted that the game will be set in a character-rich universe, inspired by heroes and characters from East Asian folklore.

This comes just after Apple's official reveal of their VR headset, Apple Vision Pro, during the Worldwide Developers Conference event on June 5.

Using ChatGPT and GameGPT for Game Design

The team revealed that they have been experimenting with ChatGPT and GameGPT to generate engaging gameplay, characters and build compelling narratives for their games. The AI models helped the team to explore and refine ideas for world-building as well, including ideas for environmental layout, challenges, and level design. Besides the AI-powered VR game in collaboration with AiGC Labs, BinaryX has also been working on a separate AI-powered game that will be released sometime this year.

"We are incredibly excited to unveil our latest venture into VR and AIGC technologies," said Rudy, Head of Growth at BinaryX. "This is a significant milestone for our companies as we continue to push the boundaries of innovation in the Web3 gaming industry. Together with our partners, our team has poured talent and dedication into creating a game that will redefine the gaming experience and captivate players like never

BINARYX AND AIGC LABS DEVELOPING FIRST AI-POWERED VIRTUAL REALITY GAME ON THE METAVERSE

JUNE 7, 2023 4:15 PM UTC, CHAINWIRE

BinaryX, the GameFi and IGO platform, announces their expansion into Virtual Reality (VR) and Artificial Intelligence Game Content (AIGC), partnering with AIGC Labs to develop a groundbreaking AI-based VR game, marking a significant milestone in the Web3 gaming industry.

Singapore, Singapore, June 7th, 2023, Chainwire

BinaryX today announced their plans to expand into Virtual Reality (VR) and Artificial Intelligence Game Content (AIGC). Building upon their GameFi expertise, BinaryX has reportedly entered into agreements with their VR and AIGC partners, AIGC Labs, to develop a groundbreaking new GameFi genre of AI-based VR games.

First AI-Powered Virtual Reality Game on the Metaverse

According to the team, BinaryX is preparing for the launch of the first-ever VR game which heavily features both VR and AIGC in collaboration with AIGC Labs. The team has not released the full details of the game yet, but has hinted that the game will be set in a character-rich universe, inspired by heroes and characters from East Asian folklore.

This comes just after Apple's official reveal of their VR headset, Apple Vision Pro, during the Worldwide Developers Conference event on June 5.

Using ChatGPT and GameGPT for Game Design

The team revealed that they have been experimenting with ChatGPT and GameGPT to generate engaging gameplay, characters and build compelling narratives for their games. The AI models helped the team to explore and refine ideas for world-building as well, including ideas for environmental layout, challenges, and level design. Besides the AI-powered VR game in collaboration with AIGC Labs, BinaryX has also been working on a separate AI-powered game that will be released sometime this year.

"We are incredibly excited to unveil our latest venture into VR and AIGC technologies," said Rudy, Head of Growth at BinaryX. "This is a significant milestone for our companies as we continue to push the boundaries of innovation in the Web3 gaming industry. Together with our partners, our team has poured talent and dedication into creating a game that will redefine the gaming experience and captivate players like never before. We're excited to reveal the game to our players soon."

BinaryX Developing First AI-Powered VR Game On The Metaverse

Michael Azadras • Cryptocurrencies • Jun 07, 2023, 09:04 BST

BinaryX, a platform for Initial Game Offerings (IGOs) and Game-Fi, has just announced that it will be expanding into VR and Artificial Intelligence Game Content (AIGC). The company is working closely with AIGC Labs to ready the first virtual reality game to feature both VR and AIGC.

Metaverse's First VR Game Powered by AI

With over 100k coin holders and 30k active wallets each month, BinaryX is one of the most popular BNB Chain projects. The company is teaming up with VR and AIGC partners AIGC Labs to create an innovative new subgenre of VR games based on GameFi's foundational knowledge and technology.

Although the team has yet to reveal the game's full specifications, they have stated that it would be set in a universe teeming with memorable characters reminiscent of those found in East Asian folktales. The game is still in development, so stay tuned to their social channels for updates on when it will be released.

This news arrives just after Apple unveiled their virtual reality headset, Apple Vision Pro, at their June 5 Worldwide Developers Conference event. The BinaryX team admitted they'd been playing around with ChatGPT and GameGPT to create interesting game mechanics, characters, and stories.

BinaryX And AiGC Labs Developing First AI-Powered Virtual Reality Game On The Metaverse

By Chainwire — On Jun 7, 2023

Singapore, Singapore, June 7th, 2023, Chainwire

BinaryX today announced their plans to expand into Virtual Reality (VR) and Artificial Intelligence Game Content (AIGC). Building upon their GameFi expertise, BinaryX has reportedly entered into agreements with their VR and AIGC partners, AiGC Labs, to develop a groundbreaking new GameFi genre of AI-based VR games.

First AI-Powered Virtual Reality Game on the Metaverse

According to the team, BinaryX is preparing for the launch of the first-ever VR game which heavily features both VR and AIGC in collaboration with AiGC Labs. The team has not released the full details of the game yet, but has hinted that the game will be set in a character-rich universe, inspired by heroes and characters from East Asian folklore.

This comes just after Apple's official reveal of their VR headset, Apple Vision Pro, during the Worldwide Developers Conference event on June 5.

Using ChatGPT and GameGPT for Game Design

The team revealed that they have been experimenting with ChatGPT and GameGPT to generate engaging gameplay, characters and build compelling narratives for their games. The AI models
